

PLANTING LATTUCE

Fact about Lettuce
 Lettuce grows most easily in cool weather

When to Grow

- Spring
- Summer
- Fall

WHERE TO PLANT LETTUCE

Unlike most vegetables, leaf lettuce can tolerate some shade, as little as just 5 hours of sun daily. In fact, during the hot summer months, lettuces require shade in the middle of the day. Too much heat causes them to turn bitter and “bolt,” or go to seed.

PLANTING STEPS

- 01 Transplant seedlings into the garden
- 02 Start lettuce directly from seed in the garden
- 03 Starting Your Own Seedlings Indoors

PLANTING TRICKS

- 01. Holding Overeager Seedlings
- 02. Chill seeds for summer planting
- 03. Lettuce Lovers Alert
- 04. Amendments In Planting or Transplanting
- 05. Lettuce In Containers

So, when to grow Lettuce and where to plant Lettuce? What's the best season for Planting Lettuce? Is it Spring or Summer or Fall? What are the planting steps?

Read about planting Lettuce and anything about Lettuce in our website. Visit us at www.yardener.com

